was exposed by THE TIMES about a year ago. She was induced to go to a private house, where she gave a seance. During the silly performance, while a beautiful white ghost was flitting around in front of the ghost-box several dark lanterns were flashed up, and the ghost was soon struggling in the arms of a determined man. In the row that followed the white gauze fell from the shoulders of the ghost.

and left Mrs. Reynolds exposed to the audience. She stood for a second clothed in a little undershirt, and, as the cabinet had been pulled down, she dived into a corner, where some of the women covered her shame while she dressed.

Her clothing and numerous masks, wire dummies, etc., which she carried in her bustle and about her person, were handed her, and she was invited to leave the house. She then left Los Angeles, and has not attempted to play her 'tricks here until last night. How long she will be allowed to play her trickery this time is not known.

BROKE A BLOOD VESSEL.

A Street-car Driver Meets with Death

F. M. Van Ranssaeler, a conductor on the one-horse street-car line, met with an accident yesterday afternoon, sustaining injuries from the effects of which he died in about an hour. Between 4 and 5 o'clock, while on his down trip, his car left the track a short distance below the railroad on Union Mills street. Mr. Ranssaeler, who

Upper Main street. Van Ransseler got out, and while getting the car again on the track, strained himself severely, as he thought, as he at once began to feel badly, and drove the car down town to the receiver's office, where he reported that he was too sick to proceed further. The receiver thought that the man was drunk, and accused him of it, but Van Ransseler protested that such was not the case, and said stated that such was not the case, and "kicked down on the floor, saying that it was impossible for him to remain on his feet any longer. About this time the police patrol wagon passed by, and the sick man was taken to the police station and Dr. Choate sent for. Dr. McCarty responded, as Dr. Choate was not in, but could do nothing for him, and he died a short time after he was brought to the station. The doctor

It is probable from what the man said that it was necessary to put the car on the track he broke a blood vessel and died of internal hemorrhage. It is either this or heart disease. Coroner Meredith was notified and the body removed to Orr & Sutch's on Spring street, where the inquest will be held this morning.

Van Ransseler came to this city from San Francisco about two months ago, and as he was highly recommended to Superintendent J. N. Syme of the Ninth-street division he was given employment. Mr. Syme spoke in the highest terms of the dead man, who, he said, was a young man of exemplary habits and stood well with both the officers and employes of the company. The only relatives that he has, so as known, is a brother in Rochester, N. Y., who was telegraphed last night, and no arrangements for the funeral will be made until he is heard from.

SANTA MONICA THIEVES.

How They Attempted to "Do Up" a Railroad Man.

Yesterday was a dull day in Santa Monica, and the confidence men became desperate. They were on the lookout for tenderfeet, but people of that kind don't take much stock in damp weather, so they kept to their rooms, and the sharpers had to do the best they could under the circumstances.

The only man that they attempted to work, so far as is known, is a Southern Pacific foreman who went down there yesterday. One of the cappers for the bunce game met Patrick on the wharf, and struck up a conversation with him.

After some talk Patrick was led to a den where the old horsehow game was being worked. Patrick took a drink with the capper, and was about to leave the place.

when he was invited to join in the game. He pretended to take part, but when it came down to putting up his money he backed out and left the place, much to the disgust of the confidence men.

The most of these confidence men live in Los Angeles, and only go to Santa Monica on Sundays.

FOR FORGERY.

A San Francisco Man Leaves His Bondsmen, and is Caught Here.
Saturday Chief Benedict received a telegram from Sheriff McMann, at San Francisco, asking him to arrest W. D. Stafford, who was stopping at the Pico House, and hold him until an officer could come down from San Francisco.

for him. The Chief at once sent to the Pico House, but Stafford had skipped out for Downey, when a telegram was sent to the Deputy Sheriff there to arrest him, which was done, and Sheriff McMan notified. Yesterday a warrant for his arrest was telegraphed down for him, and he will be brought in this morning for safe keeping until the San Francisco officer arrives. It seems that Stafford committed forgery some

CHINESE GAMBLERS.

A Batch of Them Run In by the Police.

For several days past there have been tumors that gambling was going on in Chinatown, and that tan games were in operation. Officer Phelps, who has been detailed for this work for some weeks past, insisted that everything was all right, but the Chief thought that perhaps he needed assistance, and a day or two ago sent down Officer Cates. A thorough investigation was made, and, while several suspicious circumstances were discovered, no games were found running. Yesterday afternoon, however, Officer Cates saw that something was up in one of the houses opposite the Plaza, near the old Roma Hotel, and calling Officers Lee and Marden to his assistance, forced the doors with axes, and, on gaining admittance, found 18 Chinamen inside who had been playing lottery. The patrol wagon was sent for, and the whole outfit taken to the police station, where one of the bosses put up $15 each for their appearance, and they were released. A close watch will be kept, and should any of the tan games attempt to run they will be promptly raided. Officer Cates will remain in Chinatown for the present.

AN EXPLOSION.

East Side Avery Gas Works Go Up with a Whiz.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the Avery Gas Works on Truman street, East Los Angeles, exploded. The explosion made quite a noise, and caused many people to believe that an earthquake had struck the city.

Mrs. Thomas Daly, who lives within about 50 feet of the works, became so badly frightened that she had to be removed. No one was injured, for the reason that the engineer and fireman had just left the place.

The cause of the explosion is not known. There was but little damage done. The citizens in the neighborhood have been told that the factory is to have the place

POINTS OF THE MORNING'S NEWS.

Sharp shock of earthquake at San Francisco and other northern cities. A gang of smugglers captured at Buffalo, N. Y. Barry reiterates his charges against Powderly and other prominent Knights of Labor. The Democrats again claim West Virginia. Official count of San Diego county's vote. Chicago Anarchists organizing for renewed agitation. The steamer Haytian Republic condemned at Port au Prince. The All Americas and Chicago sail for Australia. Two white men stabbed by negroes at Philadelphia. The Cunarder Etnuria struck by a tidal wave. Murder at Braintree, Mass. Mrs. Parsons addresses Socialists in London. England to arm the natives in India as allies. Two children accidentally shot at Oronville. Departure of the Empress Victoria for England. Russia to establish a protectorate over Corea. Arrest of a Kansas embezzler at Portland, Or. Yesterday's baseball games. More trouble in the Chickasaw Nation.

The city of Buffalo this year gave Harrison 23,320 against Cleveland's 21,811.

A WALK through one of our unpaved streets, during a rainy spell, is a thing of boot-ty, but not a joy forever.

THERE is more joy over one street that is properly paved than over ninety and nine that are filled with mush.

TUCSON is clamoring for a street-sprinkler. Los Angeles has several which we don't need just at present.

JUDGE THURMAN protests in advance against the admission of Dakota and Montana to the Union. The Old Roman is behind the times.

LANDLORDS in this city who are trying to raise rents to boom figures must be disciples of Bob Ingersoll—they don't believe in any heretier.

Some well-informed Washington people are confident that McKinley will be Speaker of the House. A better selection could not be made.

MOST says there is no truth in the report that the Anarchists contemplate an uprising in July. It will be better for them if they don't.

THE city authorities should have a committee to meet eastern visitors at the Santa Fé depot and see that they are properly bilfolded while riding through First street.

SHOULD McKinley be chosen Speaker of the House, it is believed that Reed will probably be made chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. It is said that Edward McPherson will certainly be Clerk of the House.

THE New York Post admits that Mr. Phelps's nomination for the Chief Justiceship was fully decided on, but abandoned by Cleveland in deference to the wishes, or rather threats, of an Irish delegation.

It is openly charged at Washington that the Democratic National Committee misrepresented the result of the election and withheld the true facts for a couple of days, in order to help out those who had bet on Cleveland.

ONCE more, in the name of the People, with a capital P, we rise up and call upon the political trainers who are engaged in the work of grooming mares (mayors—see?). Trot out your dark horses, gentlemen, and let us inspect their paces.

ARIZONA seems to be the only Territory which sends a Democrat to Congress, and this was mainly owing to weakness of the Republican candidate, coupled with the fact that his Democratic opponent is very popular. Montana, which was relied on as a future Democratic State, gave its Republican Delegate a majority of 5000.

CALIFORNIA agriculture is conducted on a big scale. Wheat is exported by the shipload; oranges and raisins by the trainload. A single hop-grower in Sacramento county a few days ago shipped a full special train of cars loaded with hops destined for Liverpool.

PERHAPS the contesting contractors for the paving of First street could settle their controversy by a swimming match in one of the numerous ponds in that delectable thoroughfare. A motion to that effect would doubtless be carried by an overwhelming vote, if submitted to the people.

A FEW weeks before election, Secretary Whitney certified that an "emergency" called for 2000 extra men in the Brooklyn navy-yard. That "emergency" seems to have been election day, for on Wednesday morning last 100 of the extra workmen were summarily dismissed, and a couple of days later 500 more had gone.

The Southern Pacific Right of Way.

The long-continued negotiations between the Southern Pacific Company and the owner of the Brisswater tract for a right of way across that tract, leading from the west to the company's new passenger depot at the foot of Fifth street, have resulted in nothing practical.

In this dilemma—time being an element of consequence not only to the railroad but to the city—and it appearing that the Southern Pacific people and Mr. Griffith are unable to come to any understanding, the former have decided to adopt a line to the northward of the Brisswater property. They wish to run their track parallel to but 100 feet back from Pine street, crossing Main, Grand Avenue and San Pedro, and so on to their new depot. They have secured the right of way over the entire distance, having purchased several tracts for that purpose, and now only await the action of the Council in passing an ordinance permitting the company to cross the streets named and others less important. This permission granted, the track will be laid at once, and the new depot be opened, they promise, within ten days.

As this desirable event is chiefly contingent upon the granting of the permission sought, and as the public interests involved clearly transcend in importance the private, it seems to us that the Council would be justified in acting promptly by passing the necessary ordinance.

Unless some other feasible route can be pointed out, where the right of way is obtainable upon reasonable and just terms, it would seem to be the right thing to let the railroad through on the line indicated; for a great enterprise, of unquestionable advantage to the city, cannot be blocked for slight reasons.

The early opening for practical use of the Southern Pacific's new, elegant and commodious passenger depot is a measure of prime importance, not only to the central section in which it is located, but to the entire city, and to the traveling public as well. It is extremely desirable that the stream of incoming visitors, now fairly setting in, should be given favorable impressions upon landing in Los Angeles. Such impressions they do not now receive from what they see when they strike the old depot. This is only one of the considerations that enter into this subject. If the Council decides to pass the required ordinance, and acts with reasonable promptness in the matter, the new and magnificent passenger depot may be opened "in a blaze of glory," so to speak, on Christmas day, or even before.

Political Forecasts.

Speculation is now rife regarding the probable composition of Harrison's cabinet and the course of his administration. Men who know him best say that it will be a liberal-conservative administration, and that the strongest men he can get will be put into the Cabinet. It is generally agreed, among those who are in a position to judge, that our next President will be firm, and not be swayed from the course he marks down for himself.

Two things that will first demand his attention and that of his party in Congress will be the financial policy of the Treasury, and the tariff question. On the former, it is believed that a very conservative policy will be pursued. As to the tariff, Gen. Harrison's attitude is well defined by the fact that it was largely through his advice that the Republican tariff bill was reported to the Senate. It is predicted that there will be a cautious Republican revision and reduction of the tariff, when the Fifty-first Congress comes in.

Immediately after the election there was considerable loose talk about Blaine in connection with the Secretaryship of State. We stated at the time that we attached no importance to these rumors, nor do we at present believe that Gen. Harrison will take what many Republicans would consider an ill-advised step. He has made no mistakes so far, and we do not for a moment believe that he will begin his official career by making one. This view of the case seems to be gaining ground throughout the East, and Blaine's name is now more generally heard of in connection with the English Embassy, a position which is usually much sought after. What Mr. Blaine's views are has not been disclosed. It may be that he would prefer the Senate.

Senator Sherman is quite close to Harrison, and will undoubtedly be given prominent recognition. Allison and Warner Miller are prominently spoken of for Secretary of the Treasury. Of the cabinets which have been constructed, one which has been very generally advanced at Washington places Sherman in the State Department; Allison in the Treasury; Miller in the Interior; Alger in the War; Frye or Hale in the Navy; Wanamaker in the Postoffice, and Judge T. F. Little of North Carolina or Judge W. O. Bradley of Kentucky as Attorney General, if the South is to get a Cabinet office. There is, however, a very general belief that this coast will be recognized, and Mr. Estee has been frequently mentioned as a prospective Cabinet officer.

We are firm and sincere in the belief that Gen. Harrison will select men of high order for his cabinet, and that, while some of the most radical of the party may be disappointed and dissatisfied, the Administration will at once become popular throughout the country.

WHAT State has furnished more Republican Presidents and mistresses to the White House than the Buckeye State. Gen. Grant and wife, Gen. Garfield and wife and Gen. Harrison and wife were all born in Ohio. In the language of William Shakespeare, in A Midsummer Night's Dream, "What's the matter with Ohio?"

OKLAHOMA, it is thought, will be given Territorial government by the 1st of January.

The People's Metal.

The outlook for silver is at present brighter than it has been for many years. We recently noticed that the royal commission, appointed a year ago in England to examine into the relations of gold and silver, had reported in favor of the restoration of bi-metalism. The commission suggests that a combination be formed between England, Germany, the United States and the Latin Union—consisting of France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland and Greece—to accomplish that object. Austria and Russia are not included, because there is no prospect of the resumption of specie payments in those countries.

In 1816 England struck a blow at silver by making it legal tender for two pounds only. In 1873 Germany adopted the English system to keep at home the French gold which she had acquired. Since then silver has constantly fallen. In 1875 the United States was induced to demonetize silver, but when the people discovered what it meant, Congress was forced to undo its action. Bondholders want a gold standard. The people want bi-metalism. That is the situation in a nutshell.

The obstacle to the restoration of silver to its old place is the fact that it circulates among the nations merely at its bullion value. It has no international currency as coin. The United States silver dollar is worth about 74 sous in France, and the French five-franc piece is worth 74 cents in the United States. If these coins could be received all around at their local tender value, for all amounts, the problem would be solved. To do this the coinage of all the nations would have to be rearranged on a common basis—for instance the French one of 154 grains of silver to one grain of gold.

Writing upon the share taken by the Pacific Coast in the battle for silver, the San Francisco Bulletin says:

It is a circumstance worthy of note that the great battle for silver was waged in this city. In the earlier stages of the controversy Henri Cernuschi, in behalf of the Latin Union, did good work. But all the weightier aspects of the case were subsequently presented here. Bi-metalism, it is true, was not a new subject. But the argument for it in connection with the silver question was new. Our New York contemporaries saluted the new doctrine as "rural finance." In no case was the presumptuous ignorance of metropolitan journalists more conspicuously displayed. A hearing could not be obtained in England at all. President Cleveland, dominated by the narrow and selfish views of Wall street, made his first break in connection with silver. Since then we have seen the truth progressing in ever widening circles. Chancellors of the exchequer, governors of the Bank of England, financiers of note have been gradually won over. When Bismarck finally releases his grip on Germany, silver will be restored to its old place. The battle can not be said to be won in England yet, but a favorable report from a royal commission is a great step in advance.

The silver question is a most important one for the Pacific Coast. Every rise of a cent in its value is worth several million dollars to us. The restoration of bi-metalism among the leading nations of the world would mean the resumption of work on hundreds of abandoned mines on this coast and the opening up of thousands of new ones, the supplies for which would be largely drawn from California.

As we have several times observed, Gen. Harrison will be his own President. Here is what an intimate friend of his recently replied to the inquiry whether Gen. Harrison is obstinate:

No, Gen. Harrison is not an obstinate man, but he is a very strong-minded man. He will be run by by any section or any class of men is not among the possibilities. His character has been shown in more than a hundred addresses that he has delivered. Not a word that any man could cavil at, not a sentiment that has not been truly patriotic, not an unkind allusion, but a straightforward declaration of his political principles without equivocation and without bombast. He will be President.

Prophets of evil, who prate of "powers behind the throne," will be disappointed.

CITIZENS who are willing to do their political duty to themselves and to the city where their homes are and wherein their interests lie, will have an opportunity to make a good beginning in that direction by attending the Republican primaries this week. Remember the harm that has heretofore, in so many instances, followed the exhibition of indifference on the part of good citizens as to this imperative public duty.

The Herald thinks that if all the Democratic journals and orators had been equally conscientious and precise with it, in advocating the true Democratic position, Cleveland would have been elected. This is a view of the case which had not hitherto occurred to us.

The ladies of the W.C.T.U. have succeeded in having the saloon under the new postoffice removed. If they could now have the postoffice itself removed about half a mile north, they would place the community under great obligations to them.

Alexander and her. There was a chap who kept a store. And though there might be grander. He said his goods to all who came. And his name was Alexander.

He mixed his goods with cunning hand. He was a skilful brander. And, since his sugar was half sand, Enthusiasts called him Alexander.

He had his dear one, and she came And lovingly he scanned her. He asked her would she change her name, Then a ring did Alex-hand her.

"Oh, yes," she said, with smiling lip, "It can be commander." And so they framed a partnership And called it Alexander.

Sharp Earthquake Shock Up North.

San Francisco and Oakland Get the Full Benefit.

A Big Scare, but No Serious Damage Done.

Departure of the Base-ball Teams for Australia—More Strife Stirred Up Among Knights of Labor—Chicago Anarchists Preparing for a New Campaign.

By Telegram to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The sharpest shock of earthquake since 1873 was felt here about 2:30 p.m. today. The motion was about northwest and southeast, and the duration of the shock eight seconds. A low, rumbling sound, which was distinctly audible, succeeded the shock.

Many persons in hotels and private dwellings ran out of the houses to the sidewalk. In the upper stories of the high buildings the movement was as though the buildings were being quickly turned side-wise and then quickly turned back.

The observations in Oakland and Berkeley give the duration of the shock as seven seconds, and the direction north and south. A report comes from some houses in Berkeley that they were rolled out of their cradles by the shock.

THE QUAKE IN OAKLAND.

The earthquake was very severely felt in Oakland. Houses were shaken violently, and people rushed into the streets. It was felt there at 2:30, and did some damage. Brick-trac was shaken from the shelves of several houses, and the chimney on one house was shaken down. The children of Albert Brown, an undertaker, were seriously affected. One who was asleep on a sofa was rolled off on the floor, and another was thrown from a chair. A young lady who was attending a funeral was made so violently sick that she had to be carried out of the church. Some residents of Oakland seem to think that this is the hardest shock of earthquake that has been felt since the famous earthquake of 1873.

Charles Barnhart, the astronomer in charge of the Chabot Observatory in Oakland, reports that the shock occurred at 2:27 o'clock in the afternoon. It was the most severe shock that has ever been registered on the new Chabot seismograph, this being the fourth shock that has been registered on the instrument. It was at least three or four times stronger than any of the three previous shocks.

IN OTHER PLACES.

SAN RAFAEL, Nov. 18.—A shock of earthquake was felt here this afternoon at 2:30. The vibrations were from north to south.

NAPA, Nov. 18.—A sharp shock of earthquake was felt here this afternoon. The vibrations were from east to west, and continued about ten seconds.

BASE-BALL.

A Game on Sloppy Grounds at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The Stockton-Haverly game which was to be played here today was postponed on account of the weather, and it was thought up till noon that no game would be played, but the sun came out and the Pioneers and Haverlys played a very fair game. The grounds were very sloppy and slippery, yet the fielding was sharp and often brilliant. Bright at third carried off the honors of the day by his fine stops. Score: Pioneers, 3; Haverlys, 2.

OFF FOR AUSTRALIA.

Among the passengers on the steamer Alameda, for Australia today, were the Chicago and All-America base-ball clubs. They spoke in high praise of their reception here. Frank Lincoln, the eastern humorist, is also with the party.

Anarchists at Chicago Again Preparing to Make Trouble.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] About 125 men gathered this afternoon at Greif's Hall on the West Side, the old-time headquarters of the Anarchists, with the understanding that they were there to organize a society "for the purpose of reviving Anarchistic agitation among the free-thinking laborers of Chicago."

One Goerling addressed the meeting, and advised the formation of a new society which would act in the interest of Social Democrats. He said that Chicago was now further advanced in the cause than any other city in America and was ready for such an organization.

After a lengthy discussion it was decided to organize the new society and name it the Arbeiter Bund. The society will appoint committees to hold agitation meetings and work up organizations all over the city.

Democrats Claim West Virginia. ASHUCROFT, Nov. 18.—T. S. Riley, chairman of the Democratic State Committee of West Virginia, sent the following dispatch to the Post:

"Official returns from this State are sufficiently ascertained to warrant the announcement of the election of Judge A. B. Fleming, Democratic candidate for Governor, by a small but sure majority. The vote of the State is secured by larger majorities. The Legislature will stand on joint ballot 46 Democrats to 44 Republicans and one Labor Union Independent."

En Route to Prison.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—Charles Thomas and W. Edwards, convicted at San Bernardino of burglary, arrived today at the City Prison, en route to San Quentin, to serve sentences of imprisonment of 18 months, respectively. D. Balderamo, sentenced to 4 years' imprisonment at Folsom for grand larceny at Los Angeles, was locked up at the prison by Deputy Sheriff Cooney.

Runaway Accident.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—Miss Annie North, a young lady of St. Louis, who is visiting her uncle, Dr. N. J. Bird, was thrown to the sidewalk by a runaway team and received severe scalp wounds. Thomas White was struck by the team and thrown down a beer cellar and considerably bruised.

Shot His Brother.

PORTLAND (Or.), Nov. 18.—James Milan, 14 years old, who resides near the city, went hunting Saturday with his brother, 12 years old, and while passing through some brush his gun was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking his brother in the left shoulder, inflicting a wound from which he died this morning.

BARRY'S REPLY.

He Renews the Charges Against the Knights of Labor Leaders.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Thomas B. Barry, the expelled member of the Knights of Labor General Executive Board, this evening gave to the press a long article explaining his position and repeating his former statement against the Powderly administration. He says in part:

"The General Assembly of Knights of Labor is not a fair representative of the industrial classes of the order. The most unscrupulous measures are resorted to in order to prevent men who were known to be opposed to the administration from being elected as representatives to this convention. The records were manipulated and changed in the general offices and members credited to administration districts and representatives seated in the convention who had no legal right to seats therein. Representatives who were lawfully elected were denied seats in the convention. The clerks in the general offices were engaged in manipulating the records and selecting the local assemblies that were known to be opposed to the administration in order that steps might be taken to prevent them from having a representation at this convention."

He then takes up Powderly's general denial of his charges, and reiterates his ability to prove all that he has said, claiming that Powderly knows this and fears to let him address the General Assembly. He says of his trial by the General Executive Board, which he has accused of wrong-doing, "the constitution disqualifies interested parties, and with all the brazen effrontery they are endowed with, they surely will not claim that they are not interested. They were incompetent and unfit to sit in judgment when they themselves were the accused villains."

He denies ever having anything to do with the Provisional Committee, and repeats that he was "expelled for telling the truth." Being charged with "plundering," he says: "I invite an investigation of their action and mine, and a court of law would be a good place for them to prove their charge of plunder against me."

He closes with a denial of the charge that he has not been a member of the order since 1873, having been a member of a lapsed assembly, and that he has fraudulently obtained money from the general treasury. Although Barry's future actions are not yet clearly known, delegates and close friends of Powderly profess to have no fear of anything he may attempt to do. If he undertakes to start an order it can be predicted that it will be a failure. He will have a popular following, and what will be required in such an order will be strict honesty. Gossip has been freely indulged in among the delegates today, but in substance differs little from what has already been stated in these dispatches.

OPIUM SMUGGLERS.

The Operations of a Clever Gang at Buffalo, N. Y.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The News' Buffalo (N. Y.) special says: The arrest of Quong Yuen, a laundryman at New York, charged with smuggling opium, was followed last night by the arrest here of William Lund and Edward Millinger, Americans, and Chong Lee, Ah Eung and Lo Haw, Chinese laundrymen, charged with being accomplices of the New York Chinamen. When Quong Yuen was arrested, it was believed in New York that the opium found there came from Buffalo, and the officials here were out on the scent. They were soon satisfied that this was smuggled across the border at Suspension Bridge, and that members of the gang, who acted as placers, were Chinamen, yet no celestials were detected crossing from Canada. By patent work they were located and lodged in jail. Inspector Reynolds says that the young white men for several months have been smuggling cans of opium in by trains crossing the bridge, and the cans under their cloaks. For each can they received 75 cents. Lund is said to have made $30 in one week. Chong Lee is believed to be a brother of Quong Yuen.

Struck by a Tidal Wave.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Cunarder Etnuria, which arrived this afternoon, experienced one of the worst passages in her history. On Tuesday last a tidal wave struck this entire tribe, within the limits of the killed and five others were more or less severely shaken up. The injured sailors were on duty at the time the tidal wave struck the ocean racer. They saw a mountain of water approaching. Terrified they scrambled for safety, but with irresistible force the green water curled over and fell upon the big steamer. Like logs the five sailors were jammed in a heap against the deckhouse. One, as stated, was killed, and the others injured. The wave washed the steamer fore and aft. The officers and crew were reluctant about the accident, and thoroughly ignorant that could be obtained was from passengers.

Carved with Razors.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—John Atkinson and William Morrow, while returning home after the parade last night, were attacked by colored men at the corner of Thirteenth and Lombard streets, and both cut and slashed with knives and razors in a horrible manner. Atkinson, who is 27 years old, was fatally cut in the breast, and is now lying in the hospital with wounds. Morrow's wounds are also pronounced very dangerous. The alleged cause of the attack is an insult to a colored girl by the two men.

Navajos Must Have Liberty.

ALBUQUERQUE (N.M.), Nov. 18.—Gen. Grierson in his late report to the War Department regarding the Navajo Indians, recommends the enlargement of the reservation, and states that to attempt to force this entire tribe within the limits of the reservation would be utterly impracticable, and any attempt to accomplish such an undertaking would meet with opposition of a nature and to disastrous to the interests of the people of New Mexico and Arizona.

Murdered by Her Hired Man.

BRAZOS (Mass.), Nov. 18.—Miss Melitabel White, aged 64, who has been running a large farm near here, and who has lived with no other company but a hired man, was murdered today. Her body was found under some hay in the barn. The house, severely injured by fire two weeks ago, had been burned out. The hired man, who is suspected, is missing.

A Kansas Embezzler Jailed.

PORTLAND (Or.), Nov. 18.—T. G. Goodin, the defaulting Treasurer of Rawlins county, Kan., is in jail here awaiting the arrival of the Sheriff of that county to take him back. Goodin absconded from Kansas in June last with about $17,000 of county funds. He quit his office a few weeks ago, and then came here and started a cigar store.

St. Louis, At It Again. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—Private advice from Tishomingo, the capital of the Chickasaw Nation, are to the effect that a conflict between the followers of Guy and Byrd is inevitable. In a personal encounter between two of the belligerents a Byrd follower was killed, and his friends swear that they will have vengeance.

Clearing-house Reports. BOSTON, Nov. 18.—A table compiled from dispatches to the Post from managers of leading clearing-houses in the United States shows total gross exchanges for the week ending November 17, 1888, to be $1,701,858,842, a decrease of 9.5 per cent. as compared with the corresponding week of last year.

Alleged Blackmail Indicted. PHOENIX (Ariz.), Nov. 18.—Col. R. M. Slater, special agent of the General Land Office, has been indicted by the Grand Jury for attempting to blackmail Gen. Clark Churchill of this city.

A Careless Hunter. OROVILLE, Nov. 18.—Theo. March while preparing to go on a hunt this morning accidentally discharged a shotgun in the house, severely injuring his two children, who were in bed at the time in an adjoining room.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The Haytian legation has received the following information: "The prize court of Port au Prince, after trial, has condemned the American steamer Haytian Republic to confiscation for violation of the blockade of the port of St. Marie, and for actively participating in the rebellion of the northern districts of Hayti. The sentence of the court was passed on the 31st of October last. The United States steamer Boston has arrived at Port au Prince, where her commander is assisting the United States Minister in investigating the case. An appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court."

EMPEROR VICTORIA LEAVES BERLIN. BERLIN, Nov. 18.—Ex-Empress Victoria and daughters started for England today. They were escorted to the railway station by the Emperor. The parting between the Emperor and his mother was very touching. He kissed and embraced her many times. The Prince of Wales was at Flushing and embarked on the royal yacht, which started for England next midnight.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Standard regrets what Lord Randolph Churchill said in regard to the Sackville affair. It says: "A knuckling-down policy is not the best nor wisest policy in the hands of such Tories and repeaters of old unfortunates as we have recently experienced at the hands of the United States Government."

LONDON SOCIALISTS HEAR MRS. PARSONS. LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Socialists held an immense meeting in Victoria Park today to commemorate the Trafalgar Square and Chicago riots. Speeches were made from three platforms. Mrs. Parsons advocated the use of bombs. PUNDITA RAMABAI.

HOW WIDOWS ARE MADE AT 9 YEARS OF AGE.

A Curious State of Affairs and a Big Chance for Reform—A Country Where Mothers-in-law Are on Top.

A large congregation assembled in Fort-street M.E. Church yesterday morning to listen to Pundita Ramabai, the Hindu high-caste woman, who has been traveling through the United States for over two years, speaking in the interests of her countrywomen.

In appearance she is of medium height, with the raven hair and clear olive skin of her race. She wore a small chudrah, the costume of India, and impressed the audience by her quiet self-possession and womanly dignity.

In presenting her, Dr. Cantine said: "I am about to introduce to you that which you have never seen before, a high-caste Hindu woman, one of two only who have visited this country, Pundita (which means Professor) Ramabai, who will speak to you in the interests of the child-widows of India."

Ramabai then came forward and addressed the congregation in a clear, low voice, not quite distinct enough to penetrate to the farther sides of the large church. "My friends," said she, "all people dwelling in Christian lands take an interest in the miseries of the world. I have but little to say to you today, for I have not time to tell of all that I have seen and known, and will confine myself to the class of child-widows only. I have traveled extensively in Hindostan, and have had access to hundreds of homes, and I have seen women there who are unlike any other women, child-widows, girls of 9 and 10 years of age and younger, some not more than 6 years old, who, while mere babies, have been betrothed by their parents, in accordance with the abominable superstition of the country, to boys of their own age. These parents, loving their daughters, make it their main object to give them away thus in marriage to insure their admission to heaven, for the religious belief of these people is that woman is dependent upon man for a place in heaven; therefore, the men must be served like gods. Many of the bride and leave as widows these little girls, 13 or 14 years of age, who remain to the end of life cursed and desolate, excluded from society and all pleasures, compelled to fast for two months at a time, with a single meal a day, and subjected to all sorts of torture and religious penance prescribed for widows.

"Widowhood is looked upon as a punishment in Hindostan, and the child-widow is the child-faithless to her husband or some other crime, and she is treated as a leper. Her mother-in-law holds the innocent child responsible for the death of her husband and keeps her under her heel. There are now 21,000,000 of these child-widows in India. Of this number 600,000 are under 9 years of age. Hundreds of thousands of these poor little girls are despair to commit suicide by eating opium or drowning themselves in the sacred river. "Sixty or seventy years ago it was the custom to burn widows. This was not compulsory, but was the voluntary act of the widow to sacrifice herself to the gods on a funeral pile, preferring this to the wretched life of bondage which all the future years held for her, and as the priest considered both fire and water sacred, passing through either of these elements is thought to be a very good mode of transportation to the other world.

"The great majority of these child-widows cannot be reached by foreign missionaries, especially the high-caste Hindu, for they are not allowed to have any intercourse with them, and as the priest is the way to reach them is to bring them into open schools, for we have power to do this. We can establish schools and homes, support and educate them; give them free access to the Bible and leave them to decide for themselves in regard to religion.

"For this purpose I am going to solicit your own people, but received no assistance or encouragement. I then went to England, and found they would give me support if the institution founded could be under the exclusive authority of the Church of England. This would not do. It must be non-sectarian, though not unchristian. I came to America, and here in this heart-beating land of liberty I found great help. All church denominations, Jews, Catholics and Protestants, have rallied to my assistance, and I have $35,000 pledged toward the founding of this school and home. $20,000 of the required amount. We propose to educate these child-widows—to lift them from their terrible servitude; to give them industrial instruction and enable them to support themselves. In two weeks time I sail from San Francisco for India. We have an association incorporated, with an executive committee and a board of trustees that controls the financial affairs. The officers of the Boston association are Rev. E. E. Hale, Rev. Philip Brooks, Rev. Lyman Abbott, Rev. George A. Gordon, Miss Frances E. Willard, ex-Gov. A. H. Rice and Mr. T. J. Johnson. Collages.

"There is also an advisory board in India, consisting of three distinguished Hindu gentlemen. We are forming circles, each member pledges themselves to the payment of $1 for a period of 10 years. One hundred dollars annually for 10 years will support and educate one child out of the 70,000 child-widows who are to become either drudges, or worse yet, to accept a life of infamy."

At the close of this appeal Dr. Cantine said: "I regret that the house is so large that we could not all hear every word spoken by my sister." He then heartily endorsed the movement, and cards for membership to this association were distributed through the audience.

A circle will be formed here at once, of which further notice will be given hereafter.

An association known as the Ramabai Association of the Pacific Coast has been organized in San Francisco, with Irving M. Scott president, and a corps of prominent ministers and residents of that city as vice-presidents.

The story of the high-caste Hindu widows, as told by Pundita Ramabai, in her clear, calm, simple style, is the tale of an unfortunate class of beings, whose only crime seems to be that of having been born at all. The Pundita has recently written a book, in choicest English, on this subject.

REAL ESTATE.

"The Times" Review for the Past Week.

Real-estate dealings in the early part of the past week were fully up to the average, all things considered, but little was done the last two days, owing to the heavy rain. The heaviest day's business was on Thursday, when transactions aggregated $202,218, and the smallest on Saturday, when the total dropped to $37,237. The following is the weekly summary:

On Monday there were 8 transfers for a nominal consideration; 43 under $1000, aggregating $18,476; 37 between $1000 and $5000, aggregating $88,349; 2 between $5000 and $10,000, aggregating $15,000; 3 over $10,000, aggregating $43,000; total, 93, aggregating $162,825.

On Tuesday there were 17 transfers for a nominal consideration; 16 between $1000 and $5000, aggregating $115,876; 5 between $5000 and $10,000, aggregating $38,325; 1 over $10,000, aggregating $10,500; total, 73, aggregating $164,696.

On Wednesday there were 11 transfers for a nominal consideration; 29 under $1000, aggregating $14,515; 25 between $1000 and $5000, aggregating $83,773; 2 between $5000 and $10,000, aggregating $10,500; 1 over $10,000, aggregating $16,000; total, 68, aggregating $124,788.

On Thursday there were 34 transfers for a nominal consideration; 17 under $1000, aggregating $12,515; 15 between $1000 and $5000, aggregating $73,733; 2 between $5000 and $10,000, aggregating $11,737; 3 over $10,000, aggregating $14,028; total, 74, aggregating $111,993.

On Friday there were 5 transfers for a nominal consideration; 17 under $1000, aggregating $6973; 9 between $1000 and $5000, aggregating $28,238; 1 between $5000 and $10,000, aggregating $7300; 1 over $10,000, aggregating $25,000; total, 33, aggregating $67,211.

On Saturday there were 19 transfers for a nominal consideration; 24 under $1000, aggregating $9890; 15 between $1000 and $5000, aggregating $30,537; 3 between $5000 and $10,000, aggregating $16,750; — over $10,000, aggregating $27,257; total, 51, aggregating $85,574.

Totals for the week—75 transfers for a nominal consideration; 177 under $1000, aggregating $78,240; 117 between $1000 and $5000, aggregating $274,830; 14 between $5000 and $10,000, aggregating $104,112; 3 over $10,000, aggregating $234,788; total, 393, aggregating $692,960.

TIE AND TRACK.

The Fate of the New Southern Pacific Depot.

Railroad men have been taking things very easy for some days. The present month, so far, has been the dulllest month of the year, both in freight and passenger traffic.

The Southern Pacific people are still squabbling with the City Council about the right of way to their new depot on the Wolfskill tract.

The new depot has been completed about two months, but the company does not want to move in until they can bring a track direct to the depot from Santa Monica.

The chances are that the dispute will be settled by the Council today. The Southern Pacific makes the following statement of the raisin shipments east during the present year: The figures show a marked increase over those for the same period of 1887. For the first nine months of the year there have been shipped 11,353,120 pounds of raisins, or 563 carloads of 10 tons each. The figures for three months are yet to be obtained, but it is probable that some of the heaviest shipping months of the year, will foot up 6,000,000 pounds in all, which, added to the other figures, would make the total for the year about 17,350,000 pounds, as against 15,973,500 last year.

The old depot will be converted into an immense freight-house, and the hotel will be moved to the new depot.

This week several big excursions are expected to arrive over the Sunset route.

According to the San Francisco Chronicle of a recent date

A WHOLESALE CUT.

In the expenses of some of the eastern railway companies is in prospect. The Chronicle says:

There is no little consternation among the local representatives of the eastern trunk lines. A circular is out, calling a meeting of the general passenger agents of these roads, as well as of the transcontinental and Iowa lines, to be held in St. Louis on Thursday. The Transcontinental Association met in that city yesterday morning, and the joint meeting is therefore called at an opportune time. The circular says that the object of the joint meeting is to prevent the "frequent demoralization of east-bound passenger traffic from the Pacific Coast, and for its more economical management."

There is apparently nothing in this statement calculated to destroy the peace of mind of the trunk-line agents on this coast, but it is coupled with a—to them most appalling piece of information, which comes in the shape of a letter to one of their number, stating that the trunk lines have been "cooked up" by which all of the agents of those lines on this coast are to be suddenly dropped from the pay-roll of their companies. This will affect the salaries of a number of agents, subagents and their assistants. A secret meeting of the trunk-line people has been held in the East, and they have agreed upon a scheme by which all their agencies on this coast shall be abolished, and a joint agency established in their stead. This is the plan of "economical management" to which the circular alludes, and which will be brought up at the coming joint meeting.

"This strikes the boys pretty hard," said a railroad man yesterday. "You see, there won't even be a chance for them to get into the joint agency, for the trunk lines will insist upon having new and neutral men in that place. Still, they all have hope that the Transcontinental and Iowa line will be the agency to be selected. The scheme, this, however, they will not let you, may depend on it. The Southern Pacific for one is very anxious to have the demoralizing element weeded out, and there is no doubt that the trunk lines are among those elements."

"On how much money is it proposed to run this joint agency?" asked the reporter. "Twenty thousand dollars a year. On the other hand, if they've got it figured down fine. There's $5000 for the agent's salary, $4000 for the steamship line commissioners and advertising, and the other $11,000 for the other expenses, including $400 for an office boy. Oh, it will be a great saving, I tell you. Why, the New York Central alone has paid out $30,000 a year to run its different agencies on this coast. The Pennsylvania about $10,000, the Erie $10,000, and the other roads smaller amounts. Yes, the boys are awaiting the coming of the joint agency with eagerness, and when it comes they'll have to look out for new jobs."

The first big excursion of the season from the East, California, arrived yesterday. It consists of 500 persons in 20 cars of a double section train that passed Albuquerque on Sunday. C. H. Speers of the Santa Fé, who received the telegram announcing their coming yesterday morning, says that this is but the first installment of the many thousands of people which the Santa Fé will bring into California this winter.

Clinton Jones of the Rock Island returned from Chicago yesterday. While there he was appointed Pacific Coast agent of the Chicago, Kansas and Nebraska, the Rock Island's new western line. Mr. Jones made a trip over the new road, and says that it is in first-class condition. Vestibule trains are now run by the Rock Island between Denver and Chicago.

THE ELKS.

Their Second Blowout in This City. The Elks gave their second sociable last night at Odd Fellows' Hall, on Spring street. Many invitations were issued, and a big crowd attended, among whom were many leading politicians and men about town.

D. J. Tobin was the chairman of the evening, and his mandates were executed by Marshals Gutch and Hottelander. They arrested every one they were told to, on all sorts of charges, and yanked them up to the chairman, where they were fined according to their offense.

The evening was passed in a light-hearted and pleasant fashion, songs, dances and recitations alternating. Beer and sandwiches were circulated industriously by the stewards, a fresh gang of whom donned their white aprons every half hour.

A pleasant feature was the presentation by William White of San Francisco Lodge No. 6 of a badge to Ed Perry and a lock to Jack Perry, by the Los Angeles lodge, in recognition of their services in its organization. The badges were of beautiful workmanship and great intrinsic value. Enclosed resolutions from the lodge also accompanied the lock of Brother Jack. After the resolutions were read, each recipient made a neat speech in acknowledgment.

The fun then proceeded with vim till about 1 a.m. The members danced around with classic lords, singing "Auld Lang Syne," and, having drained the last keg, they all went home feeling pretty good.

A New Dining-room.

The new dining-room at the Nadeau House was thrown open last night, when a magnificent dinner was served. During the meal Fred Dolph's orchestra gave the following selections:

1. Overture, "Sylvester" (Edward Beyer).
2. "Surprise Medley" (Dave Braham).
3. Overture, "Tourist" (Edwards).
4. "Visions of Paradise" (C. W. Bennett).
5. "Tonight We Say Farewell" (potpourri) (A. Hermann).
6. "Leamarian" (Brilliant) (J. H. Richardson).
7. Grand selection from "Favorita" (Donizetti).
8. Overture, "Lebenslust" (C. Latann).
9. Medley, "The Matinee" (Bowman).
10. Selection, "Chimes of Cornville" (R. Planquette).

Badly Bruised.

Paul Nelson, who resides at Harmony Garden, was struck by passenger engine No. 19 of the Southern Pacific Railroad at the San Fernando-street crossing last night and pretty badly bruised up, though fortunately not seriously injured. He was removed to his home and medical aid summoned. The matter was reported at police headquarters by Officer Lohart.

LONG HAIR.

DR. (7) TRUESDELL AND MRS. DR. ON THE PLATFORM.

Their Antics on the Faith Cure Racket and Other Singular Doings—The Hamburgs and the Hamburged Gather Together.

Dr. and Mrs. Truesdell held one of their faith-cure matinees yesterday afternoon at Masonic Hall on Spring street. About thirty people assembled to listen to the Doctor expound his new-fangled theory and try to make cures by aid of the Holy Ghost. The audience looked like honest, hard-working cranks of the lower middle class, with little money and less brains with which to respond to the Doctor's clap-trap. A funeral and depressing atmosphere hung over the room, only broken by the sing-song intonation of the "preacher's" voice. There was none too much of that, for he talks as if the Holy Spirit within him disagreed with his new back teeth, and the end of his sentences melt into the misty air in a funny, drowsy, drunken way.

He read from manuscript sheets a long and most intricate disquisition about the Lord knows what. He attacked trinitarianism, Unitarianism, and multitarianism, and finally denounced the Pantheism of modern thought for the low comprehension of his auditors. He read and reread all sorts of sentences of this doctrine and said he was doing so to make his audience of a naked man, brains, lungs, lights, liver, etc., and the worthy couple will expiate on these when they can get any one to "lock together" and listen. The Doctor concluded by giving his reverend and worthy gentlemen who are agitating that subject the benefit of his valuable indorsement. As his arguments were all in the nature of a sermon, and he was the subject of faith healing, they tasted some like chestnuts to the weary audience.

These, by the way, had long got beyond their depth. Some stared at the glass over the speaker's head, and gazed at his eyes, and others looked at the Doctor's face, and the "molecular" force made it blue, and others thought those multitarins must have defeated Cleveland in New York State. One person in the audience kept his eyes shut through the discourse, and never opened them even when Mrs. Truesdell showed the blue velvet money plate under the nose. When she had kept his eyes shut through the discourse, and never opened them even when Mrs. Truesdell showed the blue velvet money plate under the nose. When she had kept his eyes shut through the discourse, and never opened them even when Mrs. Truesdell showed the blue velvet money plate under the nose.

The speaker worked these big and little tin gods on wheels backward and forward till all his hearers properly abhorred what ever they meant, which none but a speaker could know. He worked them so that how God was everywhere, and that the Holy Spirit was in the "molecular" force holding together a piece of steel. "Take it away and steel will go to pieces."

He also worked in at the proper openings how Mrs. Truesdell gave lectures to ladies only, and he wanted to get up some more. There were some serious lunging up with detectors of a naked man, brains, lungs, lights, liver, etc., and the worthy couple will expiate on these when they can get any one to "lock together" and listen.

FRESH LITERATURE.

APPLETON'S CYCLOPEDIA OF AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY. Edited by JAMES GRANT WILSON. New York: D. Appleton & Co.

A cyclopedia of national biography is one of the most valuable and indispensable contributions to the literature of any people. Every scholar and every reader will recognize the benefit to be derived from it. It is the greatest of a nation who make its history; who leave upon it the impress of its civilization and its advancement. The story of their lives is like milestones set up along the great highway of human progress. A separate volume devoted to the life of each would make a library beyond the reach of the majority of scholars and writers. But a cyclopedia containing the leading facts of their history, and giving the names of all the most eminent of America's great men is within reach of the masses, and for all practical purposes is far better than a whole library of books would be—for it contains the pith of all that is interesting and important concerning them.

Appleton's Cyclopedia of American Biography consists of six large volumes, of 768 pages each, printed from clear type, finely illustrated and bound in calf. Five of these volumes are already complete, and all that has been promised for them has been fully carried out. The editors have endeavored in all instances to obtain the cooperation of the most competent students of special periods on departments of history, and they have had the assistance of scholarly and experienced associates, together with a well-equipped staff of writers. Many articles have been contributed by some of the most brilliant names in American literature, and much valuable material has been obtained from original sources. The cyclopedia will include the names of more than 15,000 prominent native and adopted citizens of the United States, including persons still living. Indeed, its aim is to embrace all noteworthy names of the New World, together with many names of people of foreign birth, whose lives have been closely identified with American history.

The work is educational and instructive, and to the men who have played the most important part in American history full and exhaustive accounts will be given. Some of the hundred pages will be devoted to American Presidents alone, placing before the reader a comprehensive and authentic account of all their public acts, and a general view of each administration. Each volume contains at least ten fine steel portraits of eminent men of the new world, thus constituting a valuable picture gallery of American greatness. Scholars and literary people everywhere will welcome the advent of this work, which supplies a long felt want in the literary world.

And to those who lay no claim to scholarship, but who are feeling their own way along the intricate paths of knowledge, this cyclopedia will be a boon beyond price, bringing to them the information which they may seek, condensed in form, yet clearly stated, and alphabetically arranged. It is a work which should find a place in the library of every American household, no less than in the school and public libraries of every community.

THE OLIVE: ITS CULTURE IN THEORY AND PRACTICE. By ANTHONY KAPAS. MAINT. San Francisco: Payot, Upham & Co., publishers.

This volume is a valuable contribution to the history of the olive. It is written in a fine, scholarly style, and its first pages have about them a breath of the old days when the oriental sat beneath its vine and olive tree. But it is, nevertheless, a practical treatise upon the nature and the proper method of culture of the olive, and the knowledge imparted is gained by the writer from his own practical experience in olive culture, as well as from the works of leading Spanish and Italian nurserymen. The work treats of the different species of the olive, the climate and soil to which it is best adapted; the methods of fertilization; its multiplication and conservation; the preparation of the ground for its reception; pruning; pests; harvest and product and the extraction, classification and storage of the oil. The work will prove a most acceptable treatise to those interested in olive culture, an industry which is destined to take high rank among the growing industries of California.

THAT GIRL FROM TEXAS. A novel. By DEANETTE. New York: The New American Book Co., 100 N. York St. For sale at Jones's Book Bazar, Los Angeles.

This well-told story is a graphic picture of fashionable life, and of many of the trials that frequently come to men of business who have to contend with misfortune and at the same time submit to the extravagance of fashionable folly indulged in by their families. It gives the picture of a man, large-hearted, conscientious and upright, who has to bear the burdens of life's cares alone, his wife a mere butterfly of fashion, his son effeminate and weak, easily falling into temptation. Into one of his darkest hours the pretty Texan girl drops, a sunbeam of gladness, a gentle comforter, and a loyal friend of his young daughter. It is a story full of plot and incident, of thrilling situations of despair and hope. It is charmingly told, and ends happily as all such stories should.

"JUST AS I AM, WITHOUT ONE PEAR." By CHARLOTTE ELLIOTT. Illustrated by halftone engravings after original designs by W. P. Johnson. New York: Frederick A. Stokes & Bro. For sale by Stoll & Thayer, Los Angeles.

In this little volume is presented the well-known hymn whose first line gives it its title. The illustrations are charmingly in keeping with the spirit of the text, and of themselves are a beautiful inspiration to higher thought and higher feeling. The little volume contains a picture for each verse, which is not less full of meaning than the words themselves. It is quaintly yet charmingly bound, and is just the book for the holiday season.

OYSTERS AND FISH. By THOMAS MURRAY. Author of "Fifty Soups," "Fifty Salads," "Breakfasts," "Dinner Parties," "Dainty Desserts," etc. New York: Frederick A. Stokes & Bro. For sale by Stoll & Thayer, Los Angeles.

This work is a most acceptable one to fall into the hands of cook and housewife. It not only gives the best methods of cooking fish and oysters, but also some of the reasons why they should be more frequently eaten. The writer believes in the wisdom of substituting fish for the everlasting steak and chop, and of the fact that if for no other reason than for the sake of variety, the author urges that this should be done. This little work gives directions for cooking both fish and oysters by an almost infinite variety of methods, and gives minute directions to the purchaser. It is a valuable little treatise, and one that will prove most welcome alike to cook and housewife, covering, as it does, the whole ground of the subjects which it discusses.

MISS PARLOA'S NEW COOK BOOK. By MARIA PARLOA, principal of the School of Cooking in Boston, author of the "Appetizer Cook Book," "The Housewife's Household Management and Cookery," etc. Boston: Estes & Lauriat, Publishers.

Cooking, in this advanced age, has become a fine art. The intimate relation between good, wholesome, properly cooked food and good health is universally recognized. No one has done more to educate the popular mind in this direction than the author of this little work. The culinary art is with her a science, and the instructions which she gives are direct, precise and comprehensive. It is full of choice recipes, and the best assistant that could be placed in the American kitchen. No intelligent cook once having it in her hands would be willing to again do without it.

Magazines.
The Wide Awake for November is a rich repository of literary wealth, and is fuller than ever of promise for the coming year. For those fond of historical research the pages of the present number will contain nothing more delightful than the charming narrative of "The Household of John Quincy Adams," by Harriet Taylor Upton. It is fully illustrated, and is like an actual peep at that long-vanished past when the heroes and heroines of the narrative ennobled the age in which they lived.

In this number the delightful serial, "Double Roses," is concluded, as is also the interesting one of "Plucky Smalls; His Story." There is a stirring story, entitled "Caught in a Snow Storm," which will seem strange to the children of this summer land, but which awakens memories of like experiences with those who in other days lived where the winter winds blow. Let the young folks look out for the Christmas number of the Wide Awake, for it promises a rich treat of good things. (D. Lathrop & Co., Boston.)

Babylonia for November will delight the hearts of the little ones by its pretty jingles and rhymes, its charming pictures and simple tales. (D. Lathrop & Co., Boston.)

The Home Maker is the new monthly magazine edited by Marian Harland, the purpose of which is indicated by its name. It is an illustrated magazine, and in typographical appearance and general make-up are equal to the better-known and longer-established monthlies. The November number is the second one in this, its first, volume, but it promises to become a valued visitor to refined American homes, full as it is of suggestions of all that pertains to the comfort and beauty of the home.

Among the contents of the current number is an interesting article, "Home Work for Home Makers," by Mary G. Hungerford; "Home Maker Art-class," by George R. Hall; "Household Health," by Grace Peckham, M.D.; "Window and Cottage Gardening," by William Falconer. (The Home Maker Company, New York.)

St. Nicholas for November—it would be difficult to describe all the good things which it contains. The children must see it for themselves to know how full it is of delightful reading. Among its charming contents is "Great Japan, The Sunrise Kingdom," by Ida C. Hodnett; and the pathetic story of "The Carving Over the Sally-port," by John J. A. Beckett. Every family in the land should send in its subscription to St. Nicholas. (The Century Company, New York.)

The Literary News is an eclectic review of current literature, and is published monthly by Stoll & Thayer, Los Angeles. To the book-buyer it is an invaluable aid in the selection of the latest books upon the market, as its reviews are the work of intelligent critics. The November number has a general survey of current literature—fiction, poetry and the drama. If you do not know just what books you desire to purchase, this will help you.

The Golden Era Magazine for December will contain the following:

Joseph Miller, the "Poet of the Sierras," will contribute an original poem. Rose Hartwick Thorpe, author of "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight," will write specially for Christmas in the "Home Department." Madge Morris will contribute "Small Coins" and a Christmas poem, written in her peculiar and charming vein. Estelle Thornton, writer of a story, "Deb's Christmas," Walter Kelly will present "Vapors of the Hashish Bowl." Lieut. R. H. Fletcher will contribute a character sketch, "Street Cries," illustrated by the author. Charles Grissén, the Oregon poet, will contribute an "Ode to Sheridan." J. Rowland Hill will furnish "Wanderer's Reminiscences of Early Days." H. McCall will write the "San Diego Yarn," which will be handsomely illustrated. Harry Wagner will tell how to keep a family on $10 per week in Southern California. The frontispiece will be a beautiful tint engraving of "California's Cupid in Winter Dress." Among the miscellaneous articles will be stories, poems, editorials, literary notes, etc. (Golden Era Company, San Diego.)

FARM AND RANGE.

HOW TO DISCOVER AND DESTROY THESE PESTS.

Characteristics of the Round and Flat-headed Apple-tree Borers—The Raisin Crop—Feeding Stock to Advantage—Notes.

A recent bulletin issued by the Ohio Agricultural Station has the following information given in reference concerning the round-headed apple-tree borer: The beetle is easily recognized by the brown color of its body and the two conspicuous longitudinal whitish stripes along its back. It appears early in summer and deposits its eggs on the tree trunk, in or under the bark, within a few inches of the ground, frequently placing them just above the soil surface, or even below it where the ground is cracked open so that the beetle can descend without difficulty. The insect makes a slit like an opening in the bark into which the egg is pushed. A few days later the egg hatches into larva, or grub, which gnaws its way into the inner bark, or sapwood, where it continues to feed throughout the season.

As winter approaches it frequently burrows downward below the surface of the ground and rests there until spring, when it again works upward and gnaws the inner bark and sapwood as before. It rests again the following winter, and in spring gnaws its way deeper into the body of the trunk, cutting cylindrical channels in every direction. Late in summer it bores upward and outward to the bark, lining a cavity at the end of its burrow with dust-like castings and there rests until spring, when it changes to the dormant chrysalis state. The adult beetle emerges from the chrysalis about a fortnight later, eats a hole through the bark with its strong jaws, and comes forth to continue the propagation of the species. Thus three years are required for the development of the insect. The place where the larva enters may frequently be detected, especially in young trees, by the sawdust-like castings that are pushed out. They also may often be seen, and are easily destroyed by pressing on the bark surrounding them with a knife blade or some similar instrument. The presence of the larva is shown later by the discoloration of bark where it is at work. The full-grown grub or larva of the round-headed borer is about an inch long, wholly without feet, whitish, with a chestnut brown head and black jaws. The pupa or chrysalis is lighter colored than the larva, and has numerous small spines on its back.

The flat-headed apple tree borer is an insect very different, both in its adult and larval states, from the one just discussed. The adult beetle, instead of being cylindrical in form and brown in color, is flattened and greenish black. It appears, however, at about the same season as the other, and has a life history of the two species are in general much alike, the chief difference being that the present species requires less time to develop, and attacks the tree higher up, being found all the way up the trunk and frequently in the larger branches. The eggs of this insect are deposited early in the summer in the cracks and under the scales of the bark, being fastened in place by a glutinous substance. In a few days the larva hatches and bores through the bark to the sapwood, in which it cuts broad, flat channels, and sometimes completely girdles the tree. As it develops it bores further into the soft wood, and when full grown approaches the surface. When ready to become a pupa it gnaws partially through the bark and then casts its last larval skin. About a fortnight later the pupa changes to a beetle, which gnaws its way through the bark, and thus completes the cycle of development.

Fortunately the injuries not only of both of these borers, but also of the bark louse discussed, may be prevented by a single, easily-applied remedy. It consists simply in applying late in May or early in June, and again about three weeks later a strong solution of soft soap, to which has been added a little crude carbolic acid. This mixture may be conveniently made by mixing one quart of soft soap, or about a pound of hard, with two gallons of water, heating to boiling, and then adding a pint of crude carbolic acid. The solution should be thoroughly applied (a scrub brush is excellent for the purpose) to the trunk and larger branches of the tree. If the bark of the tree is especially rough it should be scraped before the wash is applied, and the soil should be smoothed down about the base of the trunk, so that there will be no cracks for the insects to enter to deposit their eggs. Of course, the object of this application is to prevent the laying of the eggs from which the grubs hatch. As an additional precaution, it is well to examine the trees during the late summer and early autumn months for eggs and young grubs, which are readily detected, and can be easily destroyed with a knife. In this way one man can go over an orchard of 500 or more young trees in a day.

The soap and carbolic acid wash can also be successfully used in freeing trees infested with the apple-tree bark louse, whose presence is detected by minute oyster-shell shaped scales on the bark of the limbs. If one of these scales be raised early in spring there will be found beneath it a mass of yellowish or whitish eggs, which hatch about the middle of May into small lice, which appear as mere specks to the naked eye. These move about over the bark a few days, when they fix themselves upon it, inserting their tiny beaks far enough to reach the sap. Here they continue to increase in size, and by the end of the season have secreted scaly coverings. As has been mentioned above, the soap wash recommended for the prevention of borers also effectively destroys this pest. The mode and time of application for the two kinds of insects is the same.

The Raisin Crop.

California's great cause for feeling jubilant over the raisin pack this year. Not alone for the increased output, but for the preference with which they are being received at the East. Boston and New York dealers are willing to, and are, paying more for them than for Valencia. The California raisin is this year more uniform than ever before, is of better color, freer from dust, and the stems are unusually bright, thus evincing that greater care has been taken in curing. The result is that far better prices are obtained, and that a feeling of confidence has been established among the eastern buyers. London layers are bringing 15 cents per box more than last year, although the pack is very much larger. A significant fact in connection with the industry this year is that grape-growers instead of curing their own raisins have turned them over to regular packing-houses, and this has had not a little to do with the great improvement noticeable. Localities have but little preference over one another. The crop of the Santa Ana Valley is as good as far as quality is concerned as that of Riverside, and both are inferior to that of Fresno in point of size of berry and quantity. The output in the Santa Ana Valley may be estimated at about 60,000 boxes, a very large increase over last year, though not by any means as large as was expected. The crop of grapes last year was very much larger than this, but rains occurred just at the wrong moment and the raisin pack was reduced to a minimum. The total pack of Southern California will aggregate somewhere between 300,000 and 350,000 boxes, of which 200,000 boxes must be credited to San Bernardino county. The proportion of "layer" raisins in Southern California is much larger than ever before, as the berry clings to the stem better; the only reason we can attribute this to is the fact that they have been more carefully handled.

As an evidence of the high esteem in which California raisins are held in the East, we note the fact that they are being sold to a large extent without sample. Heretofore a sample had to accompany every offer, but now brands which were established last year require only a guaranty as to their quality to be readily taken. This is indisputable evidence that the industry is on a better footing than ever before. A word in conclusion. In the East express companies make special rates for samples, merchandizing houses are given facilities for sending samples of their wares, but on this coast the fruit-packer, the bee-keeper, the bean-dealer, in fact, producers and merchants of all kinds, are forced to pay the most extortionate charges to the Wells-Fargo Company for this most necessary adjunct to commerce. We should think that a company which has so much interest on this coast would have better sense than to try the experiment of killing the goose that lays for them so many golden eggs, for that is what their present policy amounts to.

Feeding on the Ground.

(Prairie Farmer.) It is a waste of feed of any kind to give it to stock upon the ground, and especially any kind of grain. There is always more or less loss that with good management could very readily have been avoided and that would in very short time pay for the expense of providing suitable places for feeding. Even the hogs ought to have a tight floor upon which their corn can be fed, rather than upon the ground. Rough feed given to cattle, sheep or horses, if fed on the ground, is certain to have more or less of it trampled down and left. Tight floors, upon which the grain fed to hogs can be thrown, and feeding-troughs or boxes to feed grain to the other kinds of stock, with racks or mangers for all kinds of rough feed, will prevent such loss. If all the stock is kept upon the farm that the feed raised will keep in good, thrifty condition, it will pay to feed so as to avoid waste as much as possible. And where a considerable number of stock is kept it will make a difference in the amount of feed well worth saving.

It is well to provide these early in the fall. More or less stock will require to be fed at almost any time now, and the arrangements for feeding should be made as soon as possible. Take a little time and plan to arrange conveniently. It will often make a considerable difference in the time required to properly feed and care for the stock how the arrangements for feeding are made. A guide regard to the making and handling of the manure should be also be considered. The making, saving and applying of all the manure possible should always be made an item, and in planning the feeding arrangements this should always be considered. The feeding arrangements need not be expensive; they should, however, be convenient, strong and tight, so as to save time and feed.

The Poland-China Hog.

(Denver Field and Farm.) The Poland-China is a strictly native American breed of swine, the product of the skill and perseverance of American breeders. The breed originated in the Miami Valley of Ohio, its first beginnings having been made a half a century ago. The hogs were called "Maggie," from one of the pioneer breeders, "Butler county," "Warren county," and other local names, which led to much confusion. In 1878 the National Swine-breeders' Association decided upon the name of "Poland-China," by which they have ever since been known.

The Jersey Cow.

(Western Farmer.) This little cow has become famous as a butter producer, though the large number of authentic tests, which, large as the number is, falls far short of doing her justice, as comparatively few have ever been tested. Of these there are some 15, with yearly records ranging from 511 to 936 pounds of butter. This is the only dairy breed that, having been "bred up" to such an intensified dairy animal, will endure such a prolonged test without showing an indication of putting on flesh or in shrinking in butter production.

Notes.

Mud on cows should not be allowed. Use the brush. A cow should be kept as clean as a horse.

Mutton is in greater demand than wool, yet the supply of choice mutton is always far below the demand. Keep a full supply of fruit and vegetables for your own use. It is poor economy to sell off and then be obliged to purchase before the new crop comes in.

An application of kerosene oil will materially prevent rust on the iron work of implements. Implements should be put away in a dry place, where dampness cannot reach them. As no two animals are alike, it is best to consult their appetites and desires. Whatever the animal prefers as food and thrives on it should have. Food cannot be forced on an animal if it dislikes it.

Milk from fresh cows is usually more or lessropy, and if mixed with milk from the other cows it will interfere with the rising of the cream. This is a matter that deserves more consideration than it usually receives.

Seeds should be thoroughly cleaned before drying and saving them. To properly remove tomato seeds place the pulp in water and allow it to remain two days. Then wash well, rinse, dry them and put them in tight vials.

OUR PREMIUM

HIGH-ARM

SEWING-MACHINE!

TESTIMONIALS:

Following are letters received by the Times-Mirror Company from subscribers who have purchased the Premium Sewing-machine through us:

"GIVING PERFECT SATISFACTION."
J. W. Rose, Pasadena, writes: The Times-Mirror Sewing-machine is giving perfect satisfaction; in my opinion it is as good as any 66 machine. I have not done any heavy work on it yet, but I think it will do it all right.

"HIGHLY PLEASSED WITH IT."
Mrs. Edwin Brown, Los Angeles: In reply to yours of 28th would state that I am highly pleased with the Premium Sewing-machine I received with the Mirror. Gives every satisfaction; so easy to learn how to manage; does such excellent work; in fact cannot praise it too much, and would not take twice the amount it cost me.

"LIKE IT BETTER THAN THE $25 SINGER."
Joseph Wilson, Los Angeles: The machine gives entire satisfaction. My wife likes it better than the $25 Singer that it has replaced.

"GIVES GOOD SATISFACTION."
S. W. True, East Los Angeles: We have the High-Arm Machine and use it for light family sewing. It gives good satisfaction.

"RUNS SMOOTH—AND SEWS EVERYTHING BUT BUTTONS."
William F. Wade, Los Angeles: The repair of the chief engineer of the sewing department of my domestic establishment is to the effect that the sewing-machine lately furnished by you for $22 arrived in good order and in due time, and has given entire satisfaction. It runs smoothly and with very little noise and performs to perfection all kinds of sewing work with the exception of buttons. [When the freight is paid to Los Angeles by the Times-Mirror Company the price is $25.50.]

"TRIED 'EM ALL AND LIKES THE MIRROR MACHINE BEST."
William L. Price, 215 Temple street, Los Angeles: My wife tried several 95 machines, and chose the Mirror Premium Sewing-machine as equal to the best in the market, for one-fourth of the money. It is perfect in all particulars, and admired by all who see it. My wife has been using it several months, and we both cheerfully recommend it to the public as represented.

"NAME IN WORKMANSHIP AND MATERIAL AS THE HIGH-PRICED ARTICLE."
C. H. Spencer, Los Angeles: Having sold hundreds of the Mirror Premium Sewing-machine for $25, which you are now offering with the WEEKLY MIRROR at $22, [plus $2.50 when freight is paid to Los Angeles], I wish to say that the machine you offer is identically the same as the high-priced article, both as to material, workmanship and character. Being a resident here and an experienced sewing-machine man, I will take pleasure in instructing any one in working the machine, in this place or vicinity.

"IS DELIGHTED WITH IT."
Mrs. J. W. Strimfeld, Pomona: The High Arm Mirror Sewing-machine came in good time, in excellent condition, without scratch or blemish, and I am delighted with it. We believe the machine is all that you recommend it to be, and think it a rare opportunity for those who want a machine to get a first-class one cheap.

"PERFECT IN EVERY RESPECT."
Mrs. E. C. Cranston, Norwalk: The High Arm Premium Machine arrived in prime condition, and is perfect in every respect. Freight $2.50, with first cost added, making $22.50 for as good a machine as is usually sold through agents for $25. Well pleased. [plus $2.50 when freight is paid to Los Angeles.]

"VERY MUCH PLEASSED WITH IT."
Mrs. Martha Allison, Downey: I am very much pleased with my machine as far as I have used it, and feel safe in saying that I have just as good a machine as if I had given $25 for it. Shall advise any of my friends to try this before buying any other, as I think it is fully as good as represented.

"RUNS LIGHT AND EASY—DOES ITS WORK WELL."
R. M. Shaw, Pasadena: I can say in regard to the machine that it is well liked. It runs light and easy, and does its work well. It is a very cheap machine at the price you furnish it.

"EQUAL TO THE BEST SHE EVER USED."
William T. Parcel, Compton: The High-Arm Sewing-machine ordered from your company was received in good order, and Mrs. Parcel says it is equal to the best of any other kind she has ever used.

"PROVES SATISFACTORY."
W. F. Beadler, San Gabriel: The sewing machine we received through your office proves satisfactory.

"WIFE THINKS IT THE BEST SHE EVER USED."
J. W. McLellan, Tustin City: We received Premium Sewing-machine through your office, and my wife thinks it the best she ever used; consequently are well pleased.

"SUPERIOR IN SOME RESPECTS TO THE BEST."
S. A. Mattison, Los Angeles: My wife and daughter are well pleased with your Times-Mirror Sewing-machine. They have used several of the best makes of machines, and yet say your machine is superior in some respects to those they have used, and in no way inferior. They were at first afraid, as many are, no doubt, that it was too cheap to be first class, but are now satisfied that it is as good as machines costing three or four times as much.

"TIGHTENED THE SCREW AND SHE RUNS ALL RIGHT."
I. A. Myers, Newhall: Yours of the 1st inst. received. Will say in reply that soon after I wrote you I discovered the cause of the trouble. The little tension screw in the shuttle had worked loose and was nearly out, and the shuttle thread, in sewing fast, would catch in the screw and break. I tightened the screw and it now works like a charm; no more breaking thread or irregularity of stitch.

"ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS THEY EVER MADE."
Mrs. U. L. Shaffer, Orange: We received our High-Arm Sewing-machine in good order, and I am very much pleased with it, and consider it one of the best investments we ever made. It is nicely finished, and runs strong and light, doing nice work. Any one needing a good machine I do not think can do better than invest $22 in the machine and Mirror, for $25.50 when the Company pays freight to Los Angeles.]

"MORE THAN SATISFIED AND GLADLY RECOMMENDS IT."
Martha M. Shaffer, Orange: I thank you for sending to me for testimonials, as I have set my new machine in the parlor without even trying it, as I was very busy and had a good machine ready for work and used to running. So I did not take time to do anything with the new one until I received your letter. Then I brought mine and went to trying it to test it. It was more than satisfied, and I gladly recommend it to those who need a machine. I think I would have gained time to have used it long ago.

"EQUAL TO ANY $25 MACHINE."
Mrs. A. W. Worm, Los Angeles: For the benefit of those who stand in need of a good sewing-machine, I will say that after using the Premium Machine for about four months, I find it equal to any $25 machine I have seen.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

Capt. Kelleher is a prospective candidate for City Surveyor.

The Council will meet this morning at 10 o'clock in the City Hall building on Second street.

Tomorrow evening the Board of Trade will tender Gen. Miles, U.S.A., a farewell banquet.

County Clerk Dunsmoor, who was reported very low at his residence on Fifth street, was much better yesterday.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the Executive Committee of the Social Purity Society will meet in the Fort-street M. E. Church.

Tomorrow evening the Illinois Society will open their winter meetings in Fischer's dancing hall at 220 South Spring street.

Joseph Schreiber, chief clerk at the Nadeau House, was presented by his wife on Friday last with a fine bouncing girl baby.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union telegraph office, No. 6 Court street, for Ruby Knight and Minnie Crawford.

The Second-street cable road shut down last evening at 7 o'clock, the excuse being that they had run out of fuel, crude petroleum being used instead of coal for running the engines. There was general complaint about this carelessness of the company, and great indignation among residents over the hills who had to walk out home through the mud.

The overcoat and hat which were left at the People's Store Saturday by a supposed crank who wanted to paint the windows, and which were afterward sent to the police station, were claimed by their owner yesterday. The man called on Chief Benedict, stated that he had been on a spree and did not know where he had left his wardrobe until he read about the occurrence in the Times in the morning. He fully identified his property, which was returned to him.

Officer Collins, who lives near reservoir No. 4, and has been greatly annoyed by amateur Nimrods shooting at ducks in the reservoir, his family on one or two occasions having narrowly escaped being wounded, has determined to arrest every one caught gunning in the vicinity. Several days ago he captured three boys, and yesterday about 11 o'clock caught a man named K. L. Barton, who was taken to the police station, but was released on depositing $10 bail for his appearance this morning to answer the charge of discharging fire arms in the city limits.

PERSONAL NEWS.

G. F. Ambrose of Detroit, Mich., is at the Hollenbeck.

J. C. Hockmuth of St. Louis is registered at the Hollenbeck.

L. Middlecoff and G. Rosso of San Jacinto are at the Hollenbeck.

A. H. Carrier and C. F. Carrier of Chicago are stopping at the Hollenbeck.

W. L. Venable, Ed. Casey, W. I. Band and wife and J. A. Ingraham and wife of San Francisco are at the Hollenbeck.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O'Donnell of Toronto are staying at the Forrest House. They intend spending the winter in Southern California.

CHINESE JAILERS.

Officer Van Luven Captures a Gang of Them.

Yesterday afternoon, at the Southern Pacific depot, just before the departure of the train for the north, Officer Van Luven, in passing through the car, found a thin, emaciated, wild-eyed Celestial tied to one of the seats with about twenty yards of rope, while a couple of other heathen stood guard over him. As it was something out of the usual run, the officer, who is of a very inquiring turn of mind, stopped to investigate. The Chinaman, in answer to Van Luven's questions, stated that their countryman was insane, and that they were sending him back to China. The men showed a letter from the Chin Wo Company, authorizing them to convey the crazy man as far as San Francisco. The Chinaman who was tied was an interested listener to the conversation, and when the other men had got through he broke out and appealed to the officer for protection. He said that he was not crazy and they were sending him out of the country against his will. He said that he had been working on the Gila division of the Southern Pacific, at camp 61, when these men, who wanted to gain possession of his property and money, captured him, and that they had given him nothing to eat for 10 days. On this statement the officer asked the Chinamen if they had any commitment for the man to the insane asylum, and when they said that they had not, that the only authority they had was the letter from the Chinese company, he concluded to hold the whole party until the matter could be investigated. Detective Neil Smith of the Southern Pacific at first objected, but when the matter was explained, he withdrew his protest, and the Chinamen were brought to the City Prison. No sooner did they arrive than the insane man went into a fit, when he was booked for medical treatment, and Dr. Choate, police surgeon, was sent for. The Chinaman certainly looked as though he had been on a protracted fast, and gave every indication that he was as crazy as a bedbug. He rolled and twisted, frothed at the mouth and rolled his eyes, but did not do much talking until a Chinese interpreter was brought in, when he flew into a rage, and attempted to assault his countryman, saying that he had no use for them. Dr. Choate prescribed a dose of bromide to quiet his nerves, when he was locked up until this morning, when he will be further examined. If he is not dead, it is probable that the Chinaman developed signs of insanity, when his countrymen at once tied him up, and with their usual indifference in case of their sick, neglected to attend to his wants, virtually starving the man, and starting him to San Francisco just in time for him to die at that place, thus saving any further trouble in looking after his bones.

Facts.

Every voter should know that the Union Pacific "the Overland Route" and the Western Railway, commencing Sunday, October 14th, will run Pullman buffet sleepers through from Cherene, via Denver, to Kansas City and St. Louis, with only one change of cars from Portland or San Francisco. The shortest line from Portland, San Francisco, Helena, Butte, Salt Lake City and Ogden to St. Louis. The principal line from Los Angeles to St. Louis. The quickest time from points west of Cherene to St. Louis.
